

MSAN Intersectional Social Justice Collaborative for Middle & High School Students

We are inviting both middle and high school students from across our districts to meet monthly to participate in an integrated social justice youth leadership development experience, culminating in a network-wide social justice action poster fair in April, 2023.

- 10/19/22: Exploring My Beliefs as an Intersectional Being: Who am I and what do I believe?
Speaker: Sofia Garcia, graduate student at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and former MSAN scholar
- 11/30/22: Exploring My Sphere of Influence: How does what I believe translate into my daily life...do my actions and behaviors match? I'm just a teenager, can I really make a difference?
Speakers: Alex Moore, Communications Director for Congresswoman Jan Schakowsky (IL-09); and Sammy Rasin, Digital Communications Director at the Wisconsin Assembly Democratic Campaign Committee
- 12/14/22: Exploring Place and People: Where am I, how did I get here and what can I do to ensure that this space is healthy/accessible for future generations? What's my role in caring for the planet and my community? Where do I fit in?
Speaker: Calvin Terrell, founder of Social Centric Institute
- 1/11/23: Exploring Inclusivity: What does it mean to be welcoming and embrace differences (people, perspectives, ideas that are unlike my own)?
Speaker: Dr. OiYan Poon, Visiting Professor, University of Maryland at College Park
- 2/1/23: Exploring Self Care: What does it mean to be self-aware and how do I celebrate myself in a healthy, balanced way? With so many negative messages directed against Black and Brown bodied people, how I take care of myself is an act of revolution.
Speaker: Vanessa De Guía, Organizational Leadership Consultant
- 3/15/23: Undoing White supremacy culture: How can we collectively understand the system, navigate it and challenge the status quo?
Speaker: Dr. Dave Stovall, Professor, University of Illinois-Chicago
- 4/26/23: ISJC Poster Fair: Equity Action Plan Presentation
